Are you looking for SS 304 fittings price per kg, you can call or mail us

How lead time and price vary when exporting stainless steel 304 pipe fittings in different countries?

One would witness wide range of pricing, when you export stainless steel 304 pipe fittings across other different countries.

It is very important for the customers to first be specific on their demand and standards before looking for the SS 304 pipe fittings price list. Other than this, below are some ideal and most prominent key considerations:

For exporting any material or pipe fitting, in particular, it depends primarily upon where the customer resides. If it is far, pricing is quoted on the basis of the time duration and many other factors.

Meanwhile, some ideal factors such as transportation cost, shipping, actual price of selling, and much more are also considered.

For a customer to check for the Stainless steel 304 pipe fittings price per kg in India, there are two primary pricing factors:

- If the customers live nearby, they can physically go and demand for their desired pipe fitting. Advantage here is that most suppliers quote reasonable pricing, just like us at K.K. Industries.
- For purchasing online, be it in small or bulk quantities, it depends largely on the standards set by the customers. Factors such as transport cost, GST, etc. play major role for the confirmation of final selling price of SS 304 elbow price list.

But very important to note that the above mentioned two factors do not apply for foreign exporting of this product.

Adding to this, there are industries that might need bulk quantities. So, more packaging process would be inculcated, which some industries charge additionally. This also affects the total pricing, when we export any product to other countries.

On the other hand, ASTM A403 WP304 fittings price fluctuate on a large scale. Most of the time it is affordable, but sometimes there might be price hike. So, it can also have a colossal impact on the exporting pricing.

Time duration also plays a key role, where customers are confined to pay by also taken the time factor into consideration.
